

BBC Earth Experience

18th April 2024

(Comments - Keith Wilshier; Photos - Ray Binks, Keith Wilshier).

PS: Remember to use the browser zoom to get a better view of the photographs.

It was a showery morning, but most of us met as planned at the Glen Waverley Railway Station to catch the 8.50am train to the city. Others caught the No.75 tram, or simply drove to the Melbourne Convention and Exhibition Center at Docklands. Amazingly, everyone was there on time at 10am at the entrance to the centre. Denise and David Mudie unexpectedly decided to come along to the BBC Earth Experience, so joined in with the rest of us to make a total of 23. We relaxed over a coffee before entering the experience at about 10.30. The exhibition staff welcomed us, took photos as a group, and advised us of the best way to get the most out of the exhibition. We entered the hall, found seats, or wandered about, and began to experience a journey through the natural world and explore the unique and extraordinary diversity of our seven unique continents on the most epic scale. Featuring modified narration by David Attenborough, BBC Earth Experience showcases breath-taking footage and music from the BBC Studios Natural History Unit television series Seven Worlds, One Planet, projected onto multiple multi-angle screens using the latest digital screen technology. After an hour or so, the experience began to repeat, so we moved on to the so-called break zones where they had the most fascinating “Micro Life” and “Water Life” displays.

We finished up around midday, took photos in the exit hall and shop, and marvelled at the video of our planet showing above us. We all made our way to the “Time Out Café” Federation Square for an enjoyable lunch, then home.

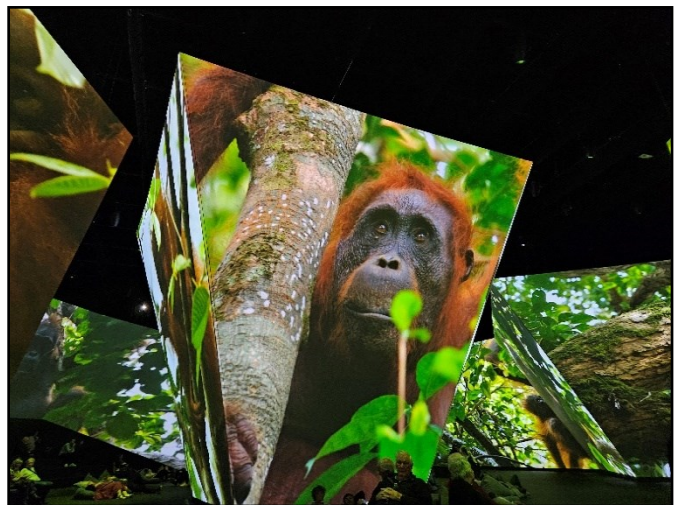

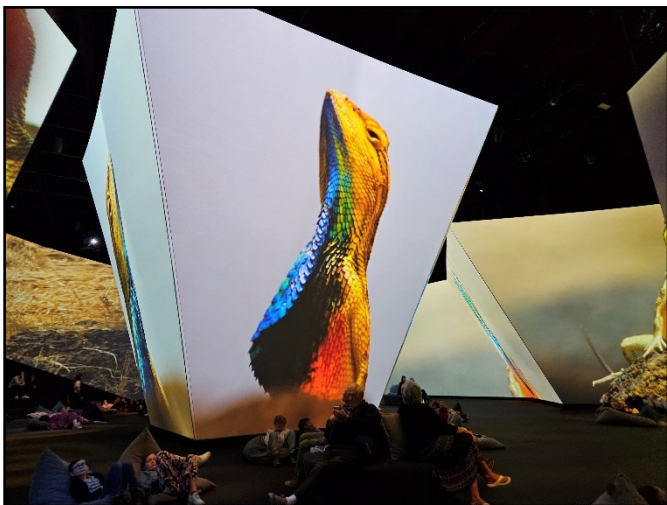

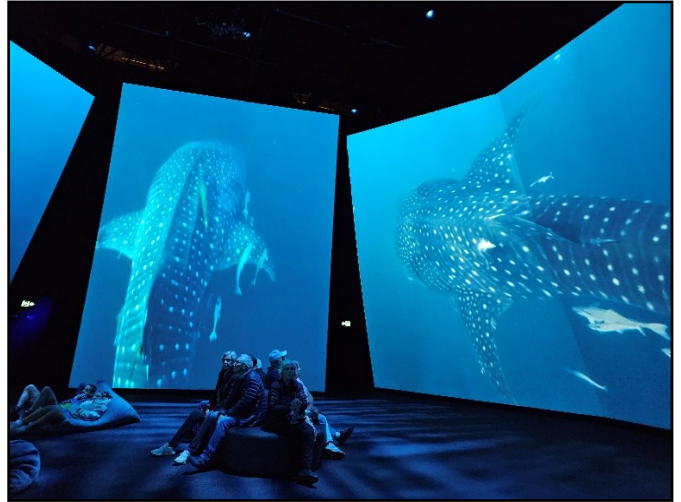

Our Group Photo.

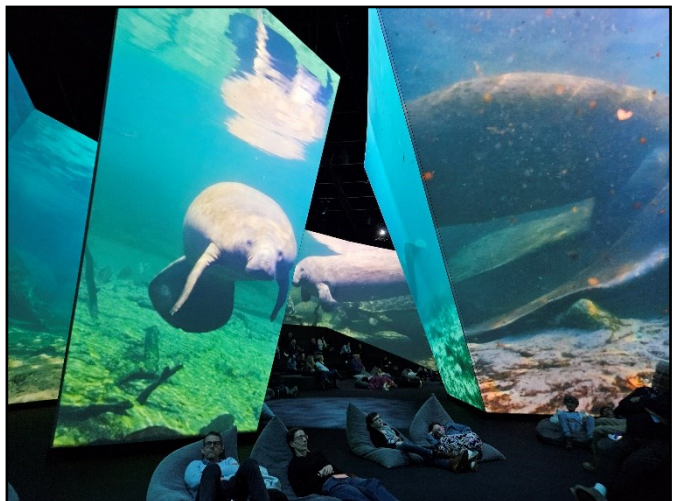

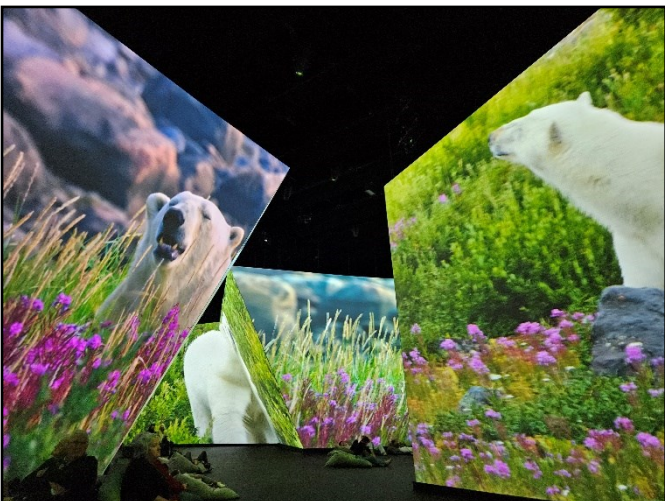

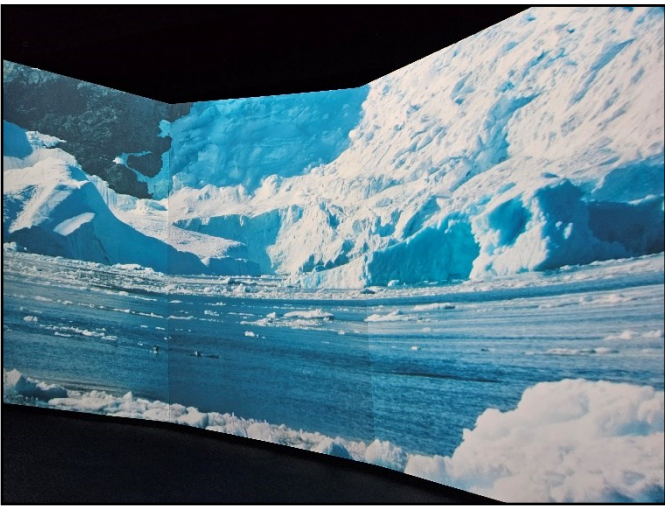

The following collage of photos shows a small sample of the fantastic show.

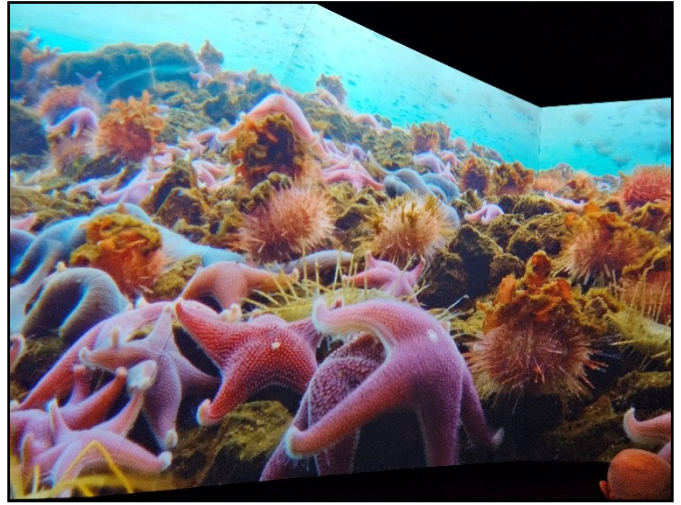

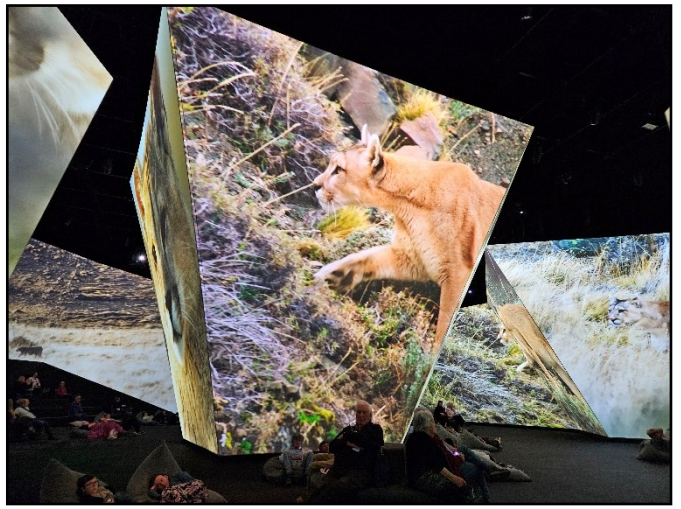

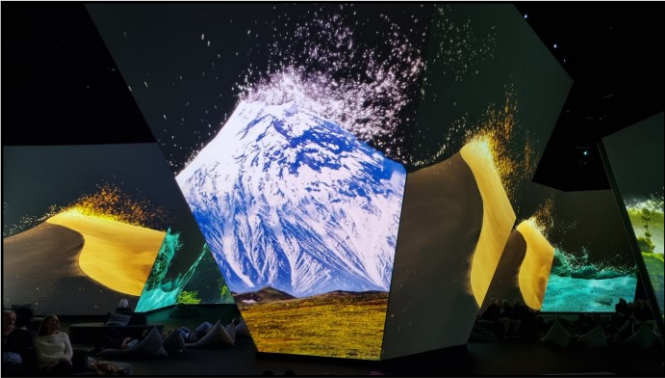

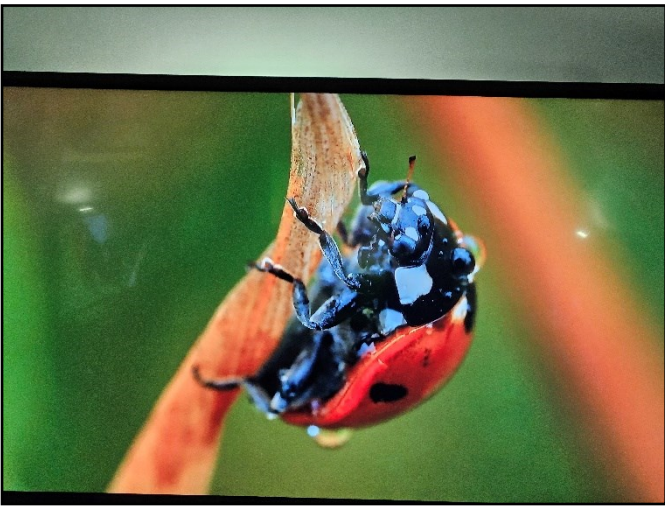

Hard to get up from this position!

(Produced using a standard website report template.)

****